A timeline:

And what about now?

I pretty much discovered that my ship patterns (grumpy x sunshiny, rivals to lovers, angst star crossed lovers) won't ever change and I always read the same stories but in different fonts.

Though I read more explicit stuff-

- I got back into Pokémon???
- STILL HEAVY preciousmetal
- I also got into journeyshipping
- Sonici
- I blame the movies for this
- Very into Sonadow
- Also got reminded that I read a lot of shadow x reader in 2014 on Deviantart

Summary:

Adam's evil goodreads account.

Notes:

Everything shown here is a testament of my "cringe is dead" policy that I'm trying to embody after nearly 13 years of fandom activity. Most of the fics, tags, ships and reading habits that will be discussed in this zine don't reflect the person I am today. However, they definitely shaped me, for better or for worse.

Kudos (pun intended) to fellow zinester aurnyn (@girlboyzinez on instagram) who had this genius idea! This one's for you <3

Also there will be discussions of yaoi, which means boy x boy! Don't like, don't read!

(See the end of the work for more notes.)

A timeline:

My introduction to fanfiction (and fandom as a whole) was One Direction in 2012! I used to read Niall x reader fics and Larry Stylinson (yes, my very first fanfics were RPF, for the longest time, I never saw anything wrong with that. oops).

Then, I "properly" got into fandom on Tumblr/Twitter in 2013, starting with Doctor Who, Pokémon, Hetalia... This is where I truly began to ship fictional characters the way I still do to this day.

Now, what was I reading on AO3 10 years ago?

- Pokémon!
- HEAVY on preciousmetalshipping
- I loved comshipping too
- And good x readers, mostly with Silver and Red.
- Hetalia!
- I was very multiship in this fandom
- Fruk, Prucan, Gerita, Dennon...
- I wanted more material after I finished reading the books
- Harry Potter!
- It might've involved a certain skeleton
- Undertale!
- It was mostly Dan & Barry x reader
- I was heavily invested in these grown men for some reason
- I was mostly Dan & Barry x reader
- Game Grumps! (YES MORE RPF)
- I was heavily invested in these grown

But do not be fooled, I've been on AO3 since 2015! I just never created an account before, and simply kept 45 open tabs on my ipad mini at all times. Back then (from 2012 to 2017), I also used Wattpad, Fanfiction.net, Deviantart and QuoteV (yes I know...). AO3 became my go-to by 2018, and never used those other sites again. It's just THAT goated.

About ship/fic discourse...

My tendency to engage with fics tackling heavy topics/involve "problematic" material should give you an idea about the way I feel about modern shipping discourse*

I grew up (literally) with the mostly agreed upon "ship and let ship"/kinktomato fandom etiquette. Fandom and its fanworks is, for many marginalized people (women, queer, trans, disabled, poc, etc.), one of the very few outlets that allow them to creatively express themselves and to explore themes in media that fail to represent them. To police language, ships, subjects, etc. leads to an inevitable slippery slope that ends in censorship.

*Yes, I consider it a modern issue that really got out of hand in the COVID era. I mostly blame it on newcomers to fandom spaces who have never engaged with fandom practices that precede them by decades.

So, what are my main ships ?

In this particular order :

1. Kobylu (One Piece)
2. Preciousmetalshipping (Pokémon)
3. Journeyshipping (Pokémon)
4. Acesan (One Piece)
5. Klance (Voltron 2016)

All of them thoroughly read about on AO3!
And here are my favorite fics :

-  Koby's Awful No-Good Very Confusing Day by okiedokeTM
-  Why Would I Be With You? by TheLizardWriter
-  The Sun and the Sea by StygianHeart
-  until you're mine by Jien_o

Yeah, it's been over a year... all this talk made me want to clear out some of my little TBR list on AO3.

Later!

Some stats !

«She walks off of the sidewalk and the grass next to it. She reminds him of Luffy, who gets distracted and is so curious about everything. Koby sees her bend down, looking at something in the grass that was hidden from his point of view, so he gets closer.

Koby bends down next to her, looking at the thing she's looking at. "A dead dove." He says softly as he looks at the poor bird.»
